GREENE BILL
PUT THROUGH

Passed The Senate By a Vote Of Twenty-three To Thirteen.

THE SAME AS GLENN BILL.

Huffaker's School Bill Beaten By a Margin of Two Votes.

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 27.—The Glenn measure giving the State Rating Board power to fix flat rates came up at the afternoon session of the Senate yesterday. Upon motion of Senator Glenn, the Greene bill, which has passed the House, was substituted for the Glenn bill.

Senator Glenn explained that the bill was the same as the present insurance law except that it extended the powers of the rating board. An amendment was offered by Senator Glenn requiring all fire insurance companies to file with the board within thirty days two copies of the schedule of basis rates or any information which affects the rates of insurance.

A hearing by insurance companies is provided for when rates are changed. The bill was passed 23 to 13.

After a long debate, and by a vote of 17 to 15, the Senate today postponed indefinitely the bill of Senator Huffaker to change the method of paying teachers of the State by having the County Superintendents report their pay rolls each month to the State Superintendent and to have the individuals checks sent out from the Capitol direct.

Game Law Killed.

After a long debate in the House Tuesday afternoon over the Cox bill, intended to strengthen the fish and game laws of the state, further action on the measure was indefinitely postponed. The original bill had been so mutilated by amendments that even its author could not recognize it. At the close friends of the fish and game commission came to the rescue and practically killed all proposed legislation on the subject.

Bob Tyler, colored, was also before Commissioner Clark on the charge of selling liquor without license. He was arrested by Deputy U. S. Marshal Joe Jackson. He was admitted to bail in the sum of $300, but in default thereof was sent to jail at Paducah. Tyler had just completed a sentence in jail for the same offense.

GOV. OF TEXAS ABOUT TO DECLARE WAR OWN HIS HOOK

In Communication Addressed to President Wilson, Gov. Colquitt Asks Consent of United States to Dispatch Police Force into Mexican Territory in Pursuit of the Lawless Element of Either Faction When They Commit Crimes Under His Jurisdiction. Pronounces Conditions on the Border Unbearable. Bryan Refuses to Agree to Proposition.

Austin, Texas, Feb. 27.—A request to know "whom the United States government now recognizes as the constituted authority in Mexican states bordering on the Rio Grande," went forward last night to President Wilson from Gov. O. B. Colquitt, of Texas. The request was made for the purpose of demanding the surrender of the abductors and murderers of Clemente Vergara, a Texas citizen, executed by Mexican federalists.

Earlier in the day Gov. Colquitt had put in motion an investigation of the Vergara incident through state channels. The first result was information from the Webb county records, asserting positively that the island where Vergara is said to have been seized, belongs to Texas.

Secretary Bryan telegraphed Gov. Colquitt that the sending of the state militia into Mexico would involve a responsibility which the federal government alone was in a position to assume and that the Washington government was doing all that could be done to obtain the arrest and punishment of the offenders.

A similar situation arose in Texas in February, 1912, and February, 1913, when border troubles caused Gov. Colquitt to declare he might send Texas rangers into Mexico either to prevent firing into American territory or to protect Americans. When on Feb. 24, 1913, Gov. Colquitt ordered four companies of militia to Brownsville, the war department telegraphed Gen. Steever, then in command of the department of Texas, "under no circumstances to permit their crossing of the river except under the specific orders of the secretary of war."

SUPPOSED
FORGER

Landed In Jail By a Clever Piece of Detective Work.

Even King Baggott in the movies seldom does a better piece of detective work than that pulled off by Louis Tanner, son of a merchant at Ninth and Clay streets, last Wednesday. Louis is a wide-awake young fellow and knows something of what has been published in the papers concerning the recent passing of forged checks by negroes. So, when a negro, giving his name as Frank Reeves, of Trenton, entered the store and wanted to buy a pair of overshoes and presented a check to be cashed, young Tanner's suspicion was aroused. He told his father to sell the negro what he wanted and he would go out and get the check cashed.

Instead of having the check cashed he went to the police station at the L. & N. and gave the officers the tip and they started to Tanner's store. The officers, Lieut. Hawkins and Broussais Gregory, met the negro going towards the depot and arrested him.

The check was drawn for $20, payable to the order of Hope Coleman and was on the Trenton bank. The name of Hugh Hammack was signed to the check and Hope Coleman works on Mr. Hammack's farm, near Trenton. Reeves had one of the check books of the Trenton bank in his pocket and the police had him to draw a check on one of them and the writing looked very much like that on the one presented to Tanner. When Mr. Hammack was called up over the phone he said he had not drawn the check. The case was given to the grand jury Thursday. Reeves claims he cashed the check for another negro just before leaving home.

In Honor of Miss Long.

Mr. and Mrs. Preston White entertained at their beautiful home on East Main street on Tuesday evening in honor of Miss Katherine Long, of Hopkinsville, the popular visitor of Miss Elizabeth Grinter. A guessing contest was a very interesting feature, and eight tables of rook proved specially attractive. Some special musical selections by Mrs. White and Misses Long and Shaw were very much enjoyed. A delicious luncheon was served.—Cadiz Record.

SCHOOL BOND ISSUE VOTED

Whitesburg Holds Election Without Waiting Till November.

In spite of the recent decision of the Hopkinsville city council that a school bond issue could not be voted on until November, it appears that a very similar proposition was voted on at Whitesburg Wednesday of this week. A bond issue of $12,000 was voted for the completion of the High School building started last year at an expected cost of $30,000. The building will be completed at once. A large number of women voted for the bond issue, which received every vote cast.

HARD AT WORK

Heating Plant for Government Building Has Arrived.

Though the weather during the week put a stop to laying brick and setting stone, the contractors for erecting the postoffice building have been at work most of the time in moving the large steel supports for the floors and doing other things necessary for a rush of the walls when good weather puts in its appearance. The heating apparatus arrived the first of the week and the large boiler and other parts of the plant have been gotten to a convenient place for putting in position.

THAT $500 FORFEIT.

Hopkinsville Will Surely Have League Ball.

R. H. Hol'and, President of the Hopkinsville baseball club, said yesterday that we will have baseball this season beyond all doubt. He said that he was going to plank up the required $250 today and the other $250 would be forthcoming the first day of April. He says we are bound to have baseball—we can't get through the summer without it. When Hol'and says anything it goes

GROUNDHOG A TRUE PROPHET

Many People "See Stars" While Prostrate on Side Walks.

Persons who are inclined to indulge in animadversions against the groundhog and express no faith as to his ability to prognosticate correctly as to weather on the second day of February, have been sitting up and taking notice of the wonderful accuracy with which he foretold weather conditions since he last went into hiding.

From the day following his emergence from his winter quarters and with the alacrity with which he went back into his hole in the earth, the weather, with exception of three or four days, has been anything but desirable.

Though last Sunday was warm and spring-like and many who had not taken a "constitutional" ramble for months visited the park and cemetery, the sudden change Monday put a stop to the singing of the birds.

Tuesday followed with a temperature several degrees below Monday, the government thermometer registered 8 degrees above zero. Wednesday was not quite so cold and farmers were again sanguine of having an ice spell.

The cold weather has continued throughout the week and the harvesting of ice was begun Thursday in some quarters.

The applications for coal have been numerous, though no cases of real destitution have come to our knowledge. Fortunately the coal dealers have had good supplies on hand, and as has often been the case, there has been no advance in prices.

Two or three farmers had, previous to the beginning of the longest and most severe spell of the winter, received thousands of a new kind of cabbage plants from North Carolina, which are considered immune from freezing and all kinds of Kentucky weather, including sleet, snows and blizzards. These had been "set out," but at this time none of the farmers are ready to "report."

Tobacco deliveries have decreased and there is much complaint of frozen pipes.

BY KNIFE THRUST

Dave Cunningham, a Local Negro, Killed In St. Louis.

Dave Cunningham, a Hopkinsville negro who left his wife here and was living in St. Louis, was stabbed and killed Monday night by another man. Particulars have not been made known. The body has been brought here and will be interred tomorrow. Cunningham a few years ago, it is said, served a term in the penitentiary. He was 35 or 40 years of age and his mother and former wife live here.

ORATORICAL
CONTEST

Crowd Went To Dawson Yesterday To Hear Flow of Orators.

HOPKINSVILLE REPRESENTED.

Reception and Dance Given to Visitors at Century Hotel.

There were other attractions at Dawson Friday night besides the flow of oratory those selected by the different high schools in this section of the state.

After the contest, a reception was given the visitors at the Century Hotel, which was a most enjoyable affair. The Dawson Springs Dancing Club gave a dance from 10:30 to 11:30 in the new ball room.

A large number of young people left here at 11:30 Friday morning and a happier and more sanguine lot of young people has not been seen at the I. C. station for many a day.

The crowd was headed by Prof. Gorton, the Principal of the High School, and he and the young people with him were confident that Edward Moseley, who had been chosen as the orator for Hopkinsville, would be the hero of the occasion, as the eloquence of young Moseley is so far beyond mediocrity that the local school had a better chance than ever to carry off the medal.

Pupils who went were: Edward Moseley, Thos. Underwood, Jim Moss, Manning Brown, Pettit Fentress, Potter Lackey, Wm. McCarroll, Raymond Rives, Jas. H. West, Earl Fowler, Wesley Dalton, Coleman Clark, James Higgins, Latham Davis, Lowe Johnson, Cy Williamson, Tom McReynolds, Cyrus Radford, Misses Mary Campbell, Elizabeth Lackey, Florine Rives, May Bell Hill and Ama Nelle Earle. They were chaperoned by Prof. M. L. Gorton, Prof. Pete Edwards, Misses Virginia Williamson and Ruth Marion.

The judges chosen to conduct the contest and decide on the merits of the speakers were Judge S. J. Sparks, of Greenville; Prof. N. C. Hammack, of Morganfield, and Prof. V. L. Christian, of Marion.

Following are the speakers and subjects:

Clyde Howard, of Princeton. "The Invisible Hand;" Roy Mason, of Dawson. "Whither Are We Drifting?" Clyde Mullins, of Paducah. "Is There a Danger of the Yellow Peril?" Edward D. Moseley, of Hopkinsville. "The Music of the Age;" Emanuel Gebauer, of Henderson. "The Living Present;" Morton W. Atchison, of Owensboro. "The Miracles of Industry;" Craig Riddle, of Madisonville. "The Rights of the American Boy."

At the present time there are seven cities represented in the association: Dawson Springs, Hopkinsville, Henderson, Owensboro, Madisonville, Princeton and Paducah. For a while Pembroke, Ky., was in the association. Hopkinsville won the contest in 1908 at Hopkinsville; Madisonville at Madisonville, in 1909; Hopkinsville won at Paducah in 1910 but the medal itself was presented to a girl contestant. Owensboro at Princeton in 1911; Owensboro at Owensboro in 1912; Hopkinsville at Henderson in 1913.

MOVING LARGE TREES

Impossible to Exercise Too Much Care in Transplanting.

Tramping of Earth Around Roots is One of Most Important Features—Early Spring is Best Time Where the Soil is Wet.

The transplanting of a tree, whether it be small or large, usually checks its growth, and while this check is not always detrimental, yet it usually reduces the total growth for the succeeding two or three years. This general check is caused by the loss of roots which takes place in digging the trees. It matters little how carefully a tree may be dug, it will suffer a severe loss of roots and in many cases from one-half to three-fourths of its entire root system, and practically all of its feeding roots will be lost. It is impossible to exercise too much care in the digging and transplanting of trees, and especially in dry severe climates.

The time or season of the year for transplanting deciduous trees is governed by the development of the tree, the condition of the soil, and the weather that is apt to follow transplanting. Many trees may be successfully transplanted at any time during their dormant or leafless period, while others require that transplanting be done at certain seasons of the year. If the trees are fully matured, the soil moist, not wet, and the winters not too severe, one may feel safe in fall planting. If the soil is wet and poorly prepared and the trees are not well ripened off, it is safer to plant in early spring. Deciduous trees should be planted from one to two inches deeper than they grew in the nursery. Thoroughly pulverized moist earth should be worked in among the roots, until the hole is about half full, and then this earth should be tamped until it is solid. The tramping of earth around the roots of the tree is one of the most important features of transplanting a tree.

Water may be applied to the hole either the day before the trees are planted or after the hole is half full of earth, but if the soil is moist it is usually best not to use any water. The upper half of the soil that is filled into the hole may be left loose or lightly tamped, and the surface left loose and finely pulverized. This will serve as a mulch as well as take up any water that may fall on the surface.

Evergreen trees are more difficult to transplant successfully than deciduous trees, but if the proper time be selected, the trees properly handled while they are out of the ground, the manner of planting be not too faulty and the care they receive after transplanting be reasonable, one may usually expect success. With the proper care, an evergreen tree may be transplanted any month during the year. Probably the most favorable time for transplanting evergreen is in the spring. Trees transplanted just after they have started into growth, start at once to grow and in many cases do not receive a perceptible shock. Fall planting has been successfully used in many localities, and where all conditions are favorable, it is a safe venture.

Large deep holes with plenty of moist earth in the bottom should be provided for any tree. During transplanting, the roots must never become dried either by the wind or from the sun. Another very important phase in tree-transplanting is to make the soil very, very firm around its roots. If the soil is well prepared and in proper condition, it is impossible to make it too firm. More newly transplanted evergreens die on account of the planter failing to make the soil firm about the roots than from any other single cause. This is the only safe way to exclude the air from the roots, and unless this is done, failure is sure to follow.

Clements Out of It.

On being asked his opinion as to the present outlook between the candidates now in the field, Hon. La Vega Clements, of Owensboro, said: "From all I can learn of the situation in Daviess county, Judge Hensin in my opinion will carry that county by a good majority, and from such reports as I have had over the district from various friends, it seems to me that Judge Hensin will win the nomination. The race is not warmed up to any great extent in my county, but I have heard it discussed by the numerous people from the various sections, and my impression is that the Judge has a good lead in Daviess."—Henderson Gleaner.

Ben Salmon.

Ben Salmon, as Sergeant at-arms of the senate, is getting along with his end of the thing splendidly, and looks like an old hand at the business. Ben, like his father, Senator R. M. Salmon, is well liked by the Senate body. He is clever young man, and likes the political game better than he likes the girls, and that's going some.—Princeton Leader

Push It Along.

The remarriage by a person who had been divorced on the ground of infidelity is sought to be made a felony by a bill introduced in the New York Legislature by Assemblyman Simpson. This would not apply if the marriage were to a former husband or wife.

Phyllis Brady, 24 years old, a Cambridge honor graduate, was sentenced to eighteen months' hard labor for a suffragette arson outrage in England.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a running sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Sent for circular free.

HUSBAND SUSPECTED OF SLAYING HIS WIFE

Coroner's Jury at Lexington, Ky., Returns Open Verdict.

Lexington, Ky., Feb. 25.—The fact that the coroner's jury which today investigated the death of Mrs. Laura Simpson, formerly Miss Laura Winder, of Chicago, brought in a non-committal verdict, caused the authorities to make it a case for the grand jury.

Mrs. Simpson was found in a dying condition in her home here last Sunday, with a bullet wound in her brain. The evidence was to the effect that the bullet had penetrated the skull but there was no sign of powder marks. Her husband testified that when he discovered his dying wife he had hurled across the room a revolver which was lying by her side. He claims that he was frenzied by the sight. The coroner's jury verdict that the shooting was mysterious but that the jury was confident that it was not a case of suicide.

Long, Monroe Dalton, Bailey Waller and Chas. M. Meacham. There were many beautiful floral offerings. The interment was in the family lot in Riverside Cemetery.

Needed as Mothers.

Edwin Grant Conklin, head of the department of biology in Princeton University, in a lecture decried the feminist movement because it shows signs of women escaping the duty of motherhood, a condition prophetic of degeneration of the race.

JURY TRIALS HOLD BOARDS

In Circuit Court Again And Several Cases Are Tried.

Wednesday afternoon, after hearing the testimony in the case of the Commonwealth against Ed Thomas, colored, indicted for the wilful murder of Arthur Cravens, colored, had been concluded, pending the preparation of the court's instruction, the jury was sent to their room.

During the interval, the case of the Commonwealth against Irving Radford, colored, indicted for selling liquor without license, was called. The prosecuting attorney introduced three witnesses, but as no evidence against Radford could be elicited, the court instructed the jury to find for the defendant without leaving their seats.

After this, the jury in the case against Ed Thomas was called from their room. The prosecuting attorney then read the instructions of the court to the jury, and the attorney for the defendant began his argument. Forty-five minutes were allowed to the side, and they both closed their arguments before court adjourned for the day. The jury retired to their room and in about five minutes returned a verdict of not guilty.

Thursday morning the case of the Commonwealth against John Cayce, colored, under indictment for wilful murder, was called. Eleven witnesses answered to the call of their names. Owing to the serious illness of Cayce, the case was continued to the June term of court and the witnesses were recognized to appear the day for which the case was set.

The case of the Commonwealth against Ike Doss and Sam Doss, colored, indicted for chicken stealing, was called. The evidence introduced failed to substantiate the charge, and on motion of the prosecuting attorney, the case was stricken from the docket.

The case of Joe Thompson, alias Joe McFaddin, indicted for assault and battery, was continued to the 19th day of the term.

After motion hour Friday the Commonwealth cases set for the fifth day of the term were called.

There were three cases against Henry T. Underwood for embezzlement from a corporation. They were continued to the June term of court and Underwood was put under bond of $250 in each case.

Case No. 647 was against Bennie Wilson, William Cox and Clarence Jones for firing deadly weapons on public highways. Two of them got off on light fines and the other case was continued.

The case against a young negro named Robert Dulin, who works on the farm of Mr. A. M. Henry, was tried. It appearing from the evidence that the boy had stolen a Panama hat and other articles worth $5.50 from a buggy; the jury found him guilty and sentenced him to three weeks' confinement in jail at hard labor.

The last case before adjournment for the noon hour was the Commonwealth against the L. & N. R. R., indicted for failing to provide water closets and other accommodations at their station at Casky. The witnesses introduced were submitted to a grilling that consumed much time, during which many objections were made and noted. Just after court convened after dinner, the jury returned a verdict of not guilty.

At 2 o'clock the attorneys and the court were trying to arrange for taking up the case against Berry McIntosh, Allen Bell, Willis Bell and Mattie Bell, indicted for breach of the peace. Also two indictments against Berry McIntosh, for carrying concealed a deadly weapon.

GOOD MATCHES

Singular Coincidence With Court Officials.

A singular coincidence developed here a few days ago in connection with Judge Jack Hanbery, our Circuit Judge, and Hon. Denny P. Smith, our Commonwealth's Attorney, who have been "working together" in Circuit Courts of this district for the past four years and who are very intimate friends. They are both the same height, weigh exactly the same and Mr. Smith is only twelve days older than Judge Hanbery. As to which is the best looking, we will leave that for the wives to decide.—C. d z Record.

AMUSEMENTS.

Something done up in tinsel and fairy tricks is the gorgeous musical fantasy, "The Prince of Tonight", to be presented at Holland's Opera House March 6. It is pretty and well dressed, some of the tableaux are resplendent beyond anything of the sort attempted. The clothes are stunning and the staging of which is in a dazzling vain is perfect. Nothing prettier in the picture land of the stage has been done than "The Prince of Tonight" develops in its little story.

SNOW IN DIXIE

South In Grip of Worse Weather Than Ours.

Snow fell Wednesday night on the Atlantic coast as far South as the Gulf States. The heaviest snowfall occurred in Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, North and South Carolina. In Louisiana and Mississippi the snow began falling about noon and by night fall had been recorded from a trace in the extreme south to six inches in the northern section. The thermometers in New Orleans, Mobile and other gulf points hovered about the freezing point. The snow was two inches deep at Savannah. In New Orleans it melted as it fell.

PENNYROYAL SHAKE UP

Three-Eighths of The Stock Purchased by Proprietor of Hotel Latham.

HOTEL PLAN DOUBTFUL.

New Building Still Stands In An Incompleted Condition.

A real estate deal of far reaching importance was closed Thursday, the effect of which will be to make it improbable that the unfinished Pennyroyal Building on the corner of Main and Eleventh Streets will be finished as a hotel. The stock company owning it was made up of eight capitalists and firms, each holding one-eighth as follows: R. E. Cooper, Odie Davis, Q. A. Elliott, M. C.
Forbes, T. W. Blakey, T. J. McReynolds, C. L. Morgan and Wright & Johnson.

A. D. Noe, proprietor of Hotel Latham, has purchased the three first named interests, three-eighths of the entire stock. The building is the most modern one in town. It is four stories in height and has a roof garden on top of it.
The building represents an outlay of more than $30,000. The original plan was to make it a big apartment house or office building and what will be the effect of the partial change of ownership remains to be seen.

JOE JACKSON.

brought a prisoner with him, charged with boot-legging, to be tried by U.
S. Commissioner Alvan Clark.

Co. D. Defeated.

In the game of basketball Thursday night between the High School and Co. D at the armory, Co. D went down in defeat. The game was one of the hardest fought of the season, but the High School stood manfully by their colors and won out by 32 to 23. The victory was a delightful surprise to the winners and a great disappointment to Co. D.

TOBACCO MARKET

Cold Weather Has Not Altogether Shut Off Deliveries.

PRICES WELL SUSTAINED.

Adjoining Counties Have Made Free Deliveries and Increased Business.

The local market has been quite active during the week and prices of the preceding week have been well sustained. The continued cold weather was unfavorable for deliveries on the loose floors, but they were heavier than was generally supposed, as large number of farmers from adjoining counties made long drives over rough roads and through snow flurries and cold winds, while many county men did the same thing, in order to get their tobacco off hand by the time ground hog weather has passed. They are looking for weather favorable for farming operations in about two weeks, when they will be in work "up to their necks." A large bulk of business by the merchants has been transacted with men who have come here with their tobacco from a distance and trade in all channels has been very good under prevailing weather conditions.
The Imperial Co., American Snuff Co., and other large concerns who buy direct from the growers have received much tobacco.

prices, everything considered.

Combatting The Mail Order Houses.

There has recently appeared in print an article entitled "Several Good Reasons Why You Should Buy a Home," presumably by some literary syndicate which is engaged in a propaganda directed against the mail-order houses. Here are the reasons.

1. Your home merchant can duplicate the prices made by any responsible firm anywhere on goods of the same quality, in the same quantities and on the same basis of delivery and payment.

2. You can examine your purchase in home stores and be assured of satisfaction before investing your money.

3. Your home merchants are always ready and willing to make right any error or any defective article purchased.

4. Your home merchants help support through direct and indirect taxation, your schools, churches, libraries, and other public institutions.

5. Your home merchants help to make a good local market for everything you have to sell and that market more than any other factor gives your land its present value.

6. Your home merchants are your friends, every ready to extend a helping hand in time of need.

7. If this community is good enough for you to live in and make your money in, it is good enough to spend it in.

8. The best citizens in this community are those who believe in and practice home patronage. Be one of the best.

9. Merchants in the distant cities give you nothing valuable that the home merchants cannot give you and the former cannot and will not do for you many things the latter do gladly.

10. Every dollar kept in circulation in this community helps increase property values.

FREE ADVICE TO SICK WOMEN

Thousands Have Been Helped
By Common Sense
Suggestions.

Women suffering from any form of female ills are invited to communicate promptly with the woman's private correspondence department of the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn,
Mass. Your letter will be opened, read
and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence. A woman can freely talk of her private illness to a woman; thus has been established a confidential correspondence which has extended over many years and which has never been broken. Never have they published a testimonial or used a letter without the written consent of the writer, and never has the Company allowed these confidential letters to get out of their possession, as the hundreds of thousands of them in their files will attest.

Out of the vast volume of experience which they have to draw from, it is more than possible that they possess the very knowledge needed in your case. Nothing is asked in return except your good will, and their advice has helped thousands. Surely any woman, rich or poor, should be glad to take advantage of this generous offer of assistance. Address

A Splendid Tonic.

Cora, Ky.—Mrs. Iva Moore, of this place, says: "I was so weak, I could hardly walk. I tried Cardui, and was greatly relieved. It is a splendid tonic. I have recommended Cardui to many friends, who tried it with good results." Testimony like this comes unsolicited, from thousands of earnest women, who have been benefited by the timely use of that successful medicine, Cardui. Purely vegetable, mild, but reliable, Cardui well merits its high place in the esteem of those who have tried it. It relieves women's pains, and strengthens weak women. It is certainly worth a trial. Your druggist sells Cardui. Advertisement.

Deadly Sameness.

"Why so gloomy?" inquired the bachelor friend. "You used to tell me that married life was one grand, sweet song!" "And so it is," replied the gloomy one. "To be more exact, it's one grand sweet refrain—refrain from cards, refrain from smoking, refrain from going to the club, refrain from drinking and refrain from opening my pay envelope until I get home!"

Had Lost Place.

Gertrude, aged three, sat in her high chair at the dinner table turning about in her fingers a small ear of corn from which she had been nibbling a row at a time. Suddenly she burst into tears. "What is the matter, dear?" asked her mother. "I've lost my place!" sobbed the little one.—The Delineator.

Beetle as Human food.

The larvae of the beetle were eaten by the ancient Romans and today are used as food by the people of the West Indies. In parts of Germany also, large beetles are cooked and eaten in various ways.

FINALLY GOT HIM STARTED

Englishman Probably Came Nearer Stumping Floorwalker Than That Gentleman Appreciated.

There were times when the ingenuity of even a floorwalker is taxed to the limit. The floorwalker, understand, is supposed to be a general intelligence office in a department store. If the store keeps any article he is supposed to be able to tell the prospective customer at what counter the article may be purchased and just how to find that counter.

The other day a man, evidently just from the tight little isle, walked up to a floorwalker in a city store.

"I beg your pardon," he said, "but where can I find the raisers?"

"The cutlery department is in the basement," replied the floorwalker, and gave directions for finding the stairs.

"Oh, but I don't want the cutlery department, I want—"

"Well, come to think of it, the safety razors are in the men's furnishing department this week," said the floorwalker, who then told how to get to that department.

The Englishman was flustered.

"I want to find the raisers."

"And I'm trying to tell you where to find them."

"But I mean raisers," insisted the Englishman.

"Exactly. I understand you; you want a razor."

"Not to shave with," said the customer, "but to go up in."

"Elevator?" asked the floorwalker.

The Englishman breathed easy.

"Yes; that's it. I knew you didn't call them lifts, as we do, and I thought I'd made myself plain."

Then he received directions as to how to get to the elevator.

PLEASANT PLACES TO LIVE

Mining Towns of the Minnesota Ranges Have All the Advantages of the Large Cities.

The mining towns of the Minnesota ranges present a different spectacle from the old-type mining towns of popular conception. A hundred villages and small cities have sprung up along the brinks of the great ore fields. Hibbing, Virginia, Eveleth, Coleraine, the young cities of the Mesaba, have more finely equipped public schools than New York, Boston or Washington. The young men of the mines who direct development and exploration are university graduates. They have clubs and libraries, bowling alleys and tennis courts.
The immense taxable valuation of iron district—five rural counties with $300,000,000 of assessed taxable valuation—produces revenue for public schools, libraries, parks, lighting, water, streets and good roads which the civic authorities of any metropolis might well envy.

Walk out into the hills for five miles from the city limits and you see a bus, with well-groomed team and driver, waiting to carry a load of boys and girls to the modern school building of one of the new consolidated country school districts, and again after school waiting to convey them safely home. In the construction of the school buildings every scientific sanitary device which the state educational and health authorities can invent has been installed.—World's Work.

MUCH DIFFERENCE IN HAIR.

We may look as closely as possible with the naked eye at the hairs of a man and woman side by side, but it is quite impossible to notice any difference between their points; yet the microscope will readily distinguish the difference. If we forcibly remove a hair from the head of a man and magnify it we find that the outer extremity is blunt, while the general formation is smooth and clear of exterior particles except dust. Upon similarly magnifying the hair of a woman we learn that it tapers gradually to a point, which is usually split up in a brushlike style.
From the outside there also project, at various spots, transparent prickles due no doubt to the luxuriance occasioned by noninterference with the growth.

A NONBELIEVER.

Mrs. Fidget (as she lays down her novel)—These ghost stories are silly.
Just as if anyone would believe them!

Mr. Fidget—Yes, that's so. But you had better go to bed now, dear.
It's after 11 o'clock, and I'll have to be up for a couple of hours yet.

Mrs. Fidget—What! Go to bed alone, after reading that book? Not much!—Puck.

WHEN ROME RULED ENGLAND

Coins Cast by the Conquerors Have Recently Been Unearthed in Considerable Quantities.

Discoveries of Roman and Saxon remains have resulted from a series of excavations at the Roman site of Lowbury, on the Berkshire downs, four miles west of Goring-on-Thames. The excavations, which have been made upon a bare hilltop, 500 feet above sea level, have been carried out by means of a grant from University college, reading.

A rectangular inclosure and several barrows have been unearthed, and 72 Roman coins, affording evidence of a Roman occupation, extending from the second to nearly the end of the fourth century.
Among these coins were three of Nerva, one of Trajan, one of Sabina, three of Antoninus, and one of Marcus Aurelius.

Another barrow yielded five den-arii from Probus to Constantine, and some broken tiles and pottery.
Other finds include six fibulae, a bronze signet ring, an iron dagger and spearhead.

The discovery of an undisturbed Saxon interment and skeleton in close connection with an area of Roman occupation is regarded as one of unusual interest and importance.

WEIR MITCHELL'S LAST POEM

Work of Poet Said to Give a View of Barabbas Different From the Story in the Bible.

One of the most remarkable poems written by Dr. S. Weir Mitchell was just about finished at the time of his death. It is entitled "Barabbas" and runs in narrative form, inter-persed with lyrics. In it the author takes an entirely different view from the biblical version of Barabbas, the robber, who was free by the Roman governor at the request of the high priest.

Dr. Mitchell described Barabbas as a patriot who had fought for the cause of the Jews in Palestine, and hence was naturally made the object of their interest when the chiefs asked whom they would prefer to have released instead of Christ.

It is believed that the poem is copyrighted and will no doubt be published in due course as a posthu-mous work. The physician and author had intended to read some of the lyrics from "Barabbas" at a meeting of the Franklin Inn club here, and had talked over the general character of the narrative with many of his friends. The poem is about 5,000 lines in length.—Philadelphia Dispatch to the New York Times.

FIND MAMMOTH SKELETON.

A mammoth skeleton was recently uncovered by workmen excavating for the laying in of sewers at Whitstable, England. Unfortunately no efforts were made to remove the whole of the remains, which were twelve feet below the surface. In all, some thirty portions of fossilized bone, a portion of one tusk, and the part of a jawbone containing several teeth were removed to the council offices. From time to time various bones belonging to mammoths have been found in the neighborhood. It is believed that the bodies were brought to the coast by the glaciers of the ice age. A clause in the arrangement with the contractor for the sewage scheme makes the fossils the property of the council.

THE STRANGER.

A stranger knocked at a man's door and told him of a fortune to be made, says the Atlanta Georgian.

"Um," said the man. "It appears that considerable effort will be involved."

"Oh, yes," said the stranger; "you will pass many sleepless nights and toilsome days."

"Uh," said the man, "and who are you?"

"I am called Opportunity."

"Uh," said the man, "you call yourself Opportunity, but you look like Hard Work to me."

And he slammed the door.

ELABORATE KNOCK.

"Is Clumzer punctiliously hosest?"

"I think so," replied Professor H. brow; "that is to say, so far as his intellectual limitations permit. I am at times forced to think, however, that he lacks the cultured mentality which enables a man to discern the ethical distinctions which must be understood in order to enable a man to be honest in the strictest sense of the word."
